So together, he and the penguin would row to the South Pole. The boy took his rowboat out of the cupboard and they tested it for size and strength. They packed everything they would need… and together they pushed the rowboat out to sea.

They rowed south for many days and nights with the boy telling stories all the way. The penguin listened to everything that the boy said. They floated through good weather and bad, when the waves were as big as mountains… until they came to the South Pole.

The boy was delighted, but the penguin said nothing. Suddenly it looked sad again as the boy helped it out of the boat. The boy said goodbye… and floated away. But as he looked back, the penguin looked sadder than ever.
