The Skipper

The Skipper is an unusual bird-like creature that is mostly found in the skies of India. This daffodil coloured bird is a combination of Anglerfish and phoenix. Its small stumpy-brown feet, when in water, expands into lacy webbs, which are ideal for the Indian rivers. This sky-dwelling creature has dazzling amber feathers and a long, sharp, ruby red beak. The adult grows to the size of a lion, however the chicks, when born, are the size of a rat.

The Skipper's diet is not a match to its appearance. The bird feeds on sweet foods, sugary foods and unhealthy foods, like for example cotton candy or candy corn. It also consumes sweet, fizzy liquid to keep itself hydrated. This creature has only one predator, the Pipsy, the Mixicorn and Skipper tend to invade the Pipsy's home, as they all have a similar diet.

When the Skipper is irritated or upset, it tends to whine, and the sound is mournful and loud. Though the Skipper doesn't usually get upset, its always in the mood for playing with its young. The Skipper is a fun-loving, excitable creature. However it might not look soft. It generally likes to play hide-and-seek, hop-and-skip and draw the cloud.

The Skipper rarely, invades the Mixicorn's home. Instead of fighting or dueling, they go hunting for sweets and berries together. Once they find their food, they share their treats. You could describe the Mixicorn and Skipper as friendly neighbours, as they both tend to get on well. Once the chick and baby are born they go hunting together. The Mixicorn likes to invade the Pipsy's home, for its sweet berries.

The Skipper usually lives for 200 years. They are believed to be the longest living sky creatures!

Pothanny

The Pothanny is a sloth-like beast, native to the Amazon Rainforest. This jungle-dwelling creature stands out from other animals with its porcelain-white torso and razor sharp talons. It is recognised by its wide, tawny eyes which result in close up vision. The Pothanny has been recently labelled as an endangered species, just like their relations, the pandas. Unlike the pandas, Pothannys eat magenta berries from the depths of the rainforest and crunchy leaves from the magnolia tree. This creature feasts on rice from the cabins of the Yaki wizards. Only the Basilisk is a match for the Pothanny, it may not look it but is a deadly beast. When in attack, the Pothanny cries a heart-rending cry (sharpens its claws) and goes in for battle. Its secret weapon is its chocolate brown eyes which hypnotise its enemies into thinking its not there - then the Pothanny pounces.

Friday 29th November 2019

Desolate, Barren and sombre. Desolate, Barren and Sombre. The Battlefield was clinging on to the dreaded feeling of malice. Soldiers lay wounded on the ground blood-dispersed ground and horses trying with all their dying might to go to a more dignified dying ground.

Every second, the fog was building up getting more dense. Smoke hung thick in the air making it difficult to breathe. The smell of blood dominated the battlefield. The smell of sweat possessed the battlefield. The smell of death was king of the battlefield.

Malificent corpses lay scattered on the ground. Trees were on their sides; leaves were strewn across the battlefield (burnt/slice-d leaves). Nature was battlefied obliterated and it was never growing back. Even though these men had sabres, they were no match for the enemies machine-guns. Misery and gloom was etched on the soldiers faces and darkness thrived in this environment.

At the front of the battlefield, the atmosphere had a dismal feeling to it. Left over over go guns and bullet-gilled soldiers made the scene even more terrifying. Hatred and evil had destroyed innocent men's lives but victory overpowered the loss with the strong and brave surviving. Unexpectedly, the fog came

The battlefield had a cold, hostile air to it; a bitter cold air, giving a vindictive atmosphere. Like an untalented ballerina, the star-glowing wind flew past the emerald, green trees leaving a sombre, sullen trail of darkness. As the soldiers stood prepared, a roaring sound enlarged but no one knew where it came from. Behind them the howl of lightning and thunder of the bombardment was so terrible in its intensity, turning the deep black of night into unnatural day.

An explosion of white light flew through the petrifying, dark sky. In the battlefield, the smell of blood was so overpowering, so strong, so tough, that you could taste it. Frighteningly, the screams of dying men were so scandalizing that it could send fear through your spine.

A fog was rolling in, it was so dense that you'd need a knife to cut through it. Making it seem like thunder, the sound of the bullet filled the horrifying silence leaving all the soldiers on edge with anticipation. The battlefield was belligerent and aggressive. Lives were at stake. Soldiers, one by one fell to the ground. There were abandoned trenches, ruined villages and everywhere was deserted. No soldiers, no noise, nothing. Bullets were pelting down, slaughtering and ruining the house like they were sheep. The swift air of blood

Habitat's for wolves

Did you know that wolves have different coloured fur? Well they do! They have black, white, grey, red brown fur. Did you know you can tell where wolves live depending on their colour or their fur, like if they lived in cold, snowy habitat they would be white? Also their fur is thick, bushy, waterproof and long. Wolves have padded paws for protection and grip. They have yellow eyes and good eyesight.

Did you know interestingly that wolves don't only eat meat juicy meat they also eat green grass and mushy berries too? Unsurprisingly they kill animals for fresh meat but surprisingly they also eat meat from animals that are already dead. Did you know that a wolf pack doesn't charge to their weak prey all in one group the fastest wolves run ahead and the others run in after? Wolves hunt animals like mouse, deer and other forest prey but mainly mouse and deer. Wolves have very very very sharp canines for tearing chewy meat apart.

PLASTIC POLLUTION

100,000 marine mammals are killed annually from plastic in our oceans.

99% of sea birds species could ingest plastic by 2050.

15% of a chick's bodyweight can be plastic.

Amputations can result from entanglement in plastic.

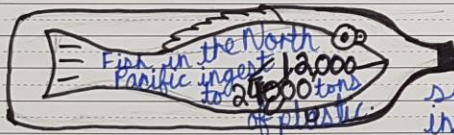

100% of sea turtles species are known to ingest plastic.

90% of all trash floats on the ocean.

Top 10 trash found in the world's ocean:

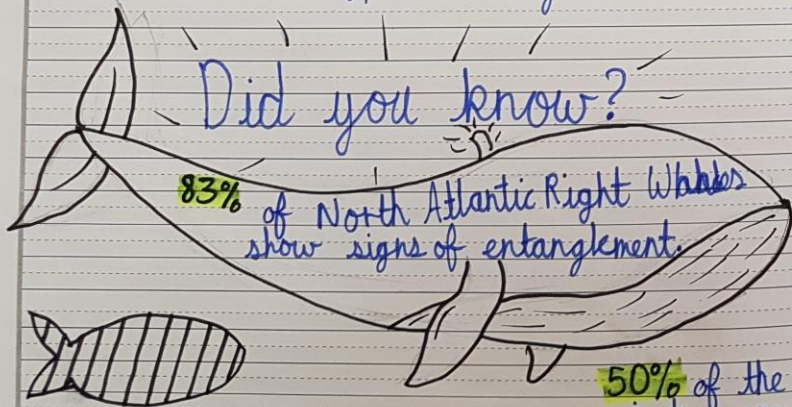

- ① 2,117,931 Cigarettes.
- ② 1,140,222 Food wrappers.
- ③ 1,140,222 plastic bottles
- ④ 1,019,171 Plastic bags.

- ⑩ 298,332 Paper Bags.

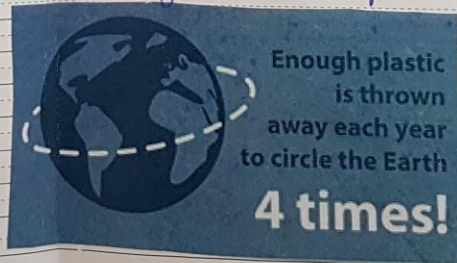

At least 2/3 of the World's fish stock are suffering from plastic ingestion.

Sea bird nests may contain or be entirely built with plastic.

Did you know?

50% of the plastic we use, we use just once and throw away!

How can we help?
Reduce how much we use plastic by using: reusable bags, cups, metal or glass straws.
Help the environment!

CLARIFY - CONNECT TO PRIOR KNOWLEDGE

Task: Do a 'read-aloud-think-aloud' - focussing on the vocabulary that helped you decide on the type of text (form).

Cosmic by Frank Cottrell Boyce

In this extract from Cosmic, Liam finds himself aboard Infinite Possibility, a space rocket hurtling far beyond the earth's orbit

A rocket, launched yesterday from a private site in northern China, is missing along with its crew of five. Yesterday the Internet was alive with rumours of a secret manned space mission. Today Nasa and the Russian Federal Space Agency both confirmed that a rocket did take off but denied it was theirs. The rocket entered high orbit and then disappeared into "deep space". No manned rocket has left Earth's orbit since Apollo 17 in 1972.

Mum, Dad, if you're listening - you know I said I was going to the South Lakeland Outdoor Activity Centre with the school? To be completely honest I'm not exactly in the Lake District. To be completely honest I'm more sort of in space. I'm on this rocket, the Infinite Possibility. I'm about two hundred thousand miles above the surface of the Earth. I'm alright-ish. I know I've got some explaining to do. This is me doing it. I lied about my age. I sort of gave the impression I was about thirty. Obviously I'm more sort of thirteen-ish. On my next birthday. To be fair everyone lies about their age. Adults pretend to be younger. Teenagers pretend to be older. Children wish they were grownups. Grownups wish they were children.

Highlight parenthesis showing dashes in another colour.

Liam's feelings...

Not scared
A little bit worried
I think Liam feels he will be fine.

CLARIFY - INFER

Task: List the words and phrases that infer how Liam is feeling. What does this tell you about Liam's character?

I think that it tells us that he is or maybe quite a fearless character. Liam isn't afraid that he will get in trouble for lying about his age. He is also not scared that he is in space by his self.

CLARIFY - GET THE GIST

Task: Identify the 5Ws in the first paragraph and then write a summary of the rest of the extract.

5 W's

Who? - Manned crew of five.

Where? - Private site in northern China.

What? - A rocket launched into space.

Why? - Rocket has gone missing. I - is Liam, he is not where

When? - Yesterday. he said he was going to be

(Lakeland Outdoor Activity Centre)

He is in space - in Infinite Possibility

He lied about age and said he was thirty. But he was thirteen.

Everybody lies about their age.

"The slightly worrying thing is that I am sort of enjoying this. Being doomed is (Not Good). But being weightless is (Outstanding)."

Do a 'read-aloud-think-aloud' explaining the language and emotions of Liam.

Liam lied about his age.

That he told the truth about lying for his age and that he's in space.

Language for effect. Think aloud. Read rest of prologue in pairs. Write down all unknown words, discuss with partner and write down what you think they mean. Remember to read 'around' the word.

The fox tore his eyes away and stared at his master. John's ship, Dragonfly, was fast but she had nothing in the way of firepower. The silver airship, by contrast, bristled with weapons. Sharp metal spikes stuck out from her hull, making her look like some sort of militarised porcupine.

Name of airship.

Who is John? Is he on their side or not? Maybe he's one of the silver-eyed stalkers?

Lily? Or the ship?

Bottom of an airship.

Is his master the main character, Lily.

Maybe this means that she has power. It is really strong and makes almost invisible. Firepower would be something that runs the ship.

Maybe this means that it was either carrying a load of weapons, or it was stabbed or hurt by a lot of weapons.

Like the military, so she might be working with some sort of army or it's just the airship that gives a military feel.

A porcupine has bristles so it has gives a sense of gear, especially with sharp metal spikes attached.

Language for effect. Form opinions. Use PEE to complete the chart. Don't forget to quote from the book and explain what it means.

Point	Evidence	Explain
We can tell from the way Lily walked at the beginning of chapter 1 that she was not happy.	'As she trudged along at the back of the line of girls'	She was at the back so she wasn't really involved and she trudged so she was a bit lazy.
Page 14. The Kraken turns the colour of her outfit.	'She turned a most putrid shade of puce; it perfectly matched her purple dress.'	Puce is purple and that means she was getting angry. Like her dress.
Lily had a passion for reading comics.	'her green eyes glistened across the dog-eared pages of Penny Dreadful'	She obviously loved her Penny Dreadful comic books and she also went to hide them in the dormitory when she got in. Cracked her other two noses.

because she was reading them in class

Language for effect. Visualise. Choose words that you were unsure of from the visual dictionary. Add them to your page. Write what it means? What other texts might this word be used in?

Encrusted - To cover something with a crust or layer. Could be used in a magazine or fact file.

Distorted - If something is distorted, it is changed so that it seems strange or unclear. Could be used in a description text or diary.

Lucy Blackwell
Alice Honey
Miss Scrimshaw's Academy

Language for effect. Form opinions. Pair read to the end of chapter 7. What is your impression of Professor Silverfish? Use quotes from the text to support your opinion. What does the relationship between Lily and Professor Silverfish appear to be?

Point	Evidence
Respectful	"if it relates to Lily's rights she should be present. We must respect."
